Barre Independents Defeated
Tenth Cavalry Saturday

BAD ERRORS BY SOLDIERS

Scampini, Who Pitched for Home Team,
Had a Shade the Better of the Twirling—Some Fielding Features.

The Barre Independents defeated the Tenth Cavalry team from Fort Elban, Allen Saturday afternoon at Rangers' field by the score of 8 to 1, and incidentally put a damper on the colored men's aspiration to be the fastest team in the state. The game was close and exciting until the eighth inning, when the locals got busy with the willow, and aided by errors, put the game on ice by piling up five runs.

It was a big day for fielding features, Powers, Thomas, L. Wright and Reid figuring in sensational catches, while Smith's capture of difficult flies in the fifth and sixth innings deserve special mention. Scampini and Finley both pitched gilt-edged ball, but the local twirler was a shade the better, as he allowed only three scattered hits, one of them a scratch, against five for the colored man, three of which were clean two-baggers.

The soldiers' lone tally came in round one, when Smart got a life on a fielders' choice and reached third and home on wild pitches. After that they failed to reach third.

The Independents chased over their first three runs in the fifth, when Smith, R. Wright and L. Wright scored after reaching first on errors. The other five were added in the eighth, when Leo, first up, drew a pass and scored on Reid's bingle for two sacks into center. Wishart followed with a pop fly, but Smith, next in turn, lifted the ball for two bags, allowing Reid to tally. R. Wright then got a life at first on Berry's error, scoring Smith. Harter then made an error of L. Wright's grounder, and R. Wright crossed the pan, Johnson, next up, lifted a high fly to first base and L. Wright crossed the plan, Johnson, next Denison, and the slaughter was over. The score:

HARDWICK LOST TO ITALIAN A. C.

Visitors Could Do Little With Weafer's
Pitching and Went Down to Defeat by Score of 8 to 4.

The Italian Athletic club defeated the Hardwick aggregation for the second time of the season Saturday at Intercity park by the score of 8 to 4. Weafer pitched a good game for the locals, allowing only two hits, and this stick weakness on the part of the visiting team and its numerous errors account in a large measure for the trimming it received. Colanagui, Francesco and Weafer featured at the bat for the locals, with two hits each. The score:

to one man, and many contend that it was never accomplished.
Speculation is rife, of course, as to the chances of Goodwin succeeding in his arduous self imposed task, and opinions are fairly divided. Some claim that he is fitted in every way for the long, punishing grind; others claim that his stroke is entirely too rapid in action to be held over the trying journey.

There can be no question that Goodwin has the speed and the endurance to succeed, and, as to his power of resistance to the ravages of a protracted low temperature, all he has to do is allow himself to grow plump to face almost anything. It is only by hard and constant work that he keeps down his weight.

As to his stroke, it can undoubtedly be improved, and it will be. Slower action and a longer run will do it, and Goodwin knows his one weak point. With a whole winter before him to practice indoors under competent coaches he should be able to acquire perfect form, so there is every hope of seeing Uncle Sam get the honors for channel swimming.

INTERCOLLEGIATE SWIMMING.

Three Championship Events to Be Decided in New York June 25.

President E. M. Richards of Yale, president of the Intercollegiate Swimming association, has brought to a satisfactory conclusion negotiations for the holding of a set of intercollegiate outdoor aquatic championships. They are to be a yearly feature of the season in future. The matter has long been hanging fire, but the difficulty in getting men to consent to compete after college was closed and in setting an early date when the water would be too cold for distance swimming prevented plans from materializing. Now everything has been smoothed out, and the meet promises to be an important one, well attended and very successful.

The original plan was to confine the entries to members of the league and to give the whole list of American Amateur union outdoor events, but more mature thought showed the advisability of condensing the program and of opening the meet to those eastern institutions making a specialty of swimming. As a result invitations were sent to Brown, Williams, Amherst, Cornell, West Point and Annapolis, which brought the list of eligible colleges to twelve, Yale, Harvard, Columbia, C. C. C. N. Y., Pennsylvania and Princeton holding membership in the association.

Only three championships will be competed for—440 yard and one mile swims and fancy diving from ten, twenty and thirty foot stakeoffs. A 100 yard race for men never having been placed in an intercollegiate event was added to encourage the newcomers.

The New York Athletic club will stand sponsor for the meet which will take place at Travers Island, New York, this month. June 25 has been set as a tentative date, subject to change in case it should not prove satisfactory to all.

Representations have been promised by eight colleges, and the number of prospective entries already adds up to nearly forty. Yale expects to have eight swimmers on hand, Columbia has seven men in training, Princeton promises eight or nine starters, Pennsylvania will send three or four, half a dozen are counted upon from the College of the City of New York, and Cornell, Williams and Amherst have all signified their intention of sending delegations.

Some well known cracks will toe the mark. Howe of Yale, the fifty yard record holder, will be seen in the 100; Palmer of Yale, the 220 yard champion, and Shryock of Pennsylvania, and 500 and 100 yard champion, will swim in the quarter, and Anthony of Pennsylvania, a prolific winner in the middle Atlantic championships of 1909, and Brown of Princeton, who was placed in several of the national events last summer, will take part in the mile.

TAFT SIGNS RAILROAD BILL

Statehood Bill is Also Ready for Him

SPEECH BY REP. McCALL

The Features of the House Session—A Massachusetts Man Criticizes the Recent Railroad Legislation.

Washington, June 20.—President Taft signed the railroad bill Saturday night at 10:15 o'clock, 45 minutes after his arrival in this city. Thus, the bill is now law. Desire to bring the railroad rates in the purview of the new law as early as possible led the president to be so expeditious. The statehood bill will wait.

Both measures in the president's legislative program were finally agreed upon by the House Saturday. The conference report on the former was accepted after some debate, finding in the end but few viva voce votes against it, and that on the Democratic side. This, then, is the first of the president's measures to reach him for his assent. Immediately after its passage, the House took up the statehood bill, and it was moved that the House at once accept the Senate amendments, so that the bill need not go to conference. After the reasons for this unusual step had been briefly explained, and to the effect that while the Senate measure did not please in all respects it was better not to imperil the statehood bill by sending it to conference, the Senate amendments were agreed to, also without a roll-call, and there was only one negative vote, the sole one cast against the bill in either House.

The action of the House is partly complimentary to Senator Beveridge. It was known that if there was to be a conference committee he would be a Senate member, and so general is the distrust of him that the House would not risk the bill with him.

It had been hoped to add the postal savings bank bill to this list of notable Taft measures, but the Senate found so much room on tap that it was decided to adjourn without voting to accept the House bill. But a vote is expected to-day, unless Senators Brewster and Cummins continue on with their speeches. They oppose the bond provisions, which they believe unfair to their constituents.

The speeches might also be construed as part of the filibuster of certain western senators against the reduction to $20,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness on reclamation projects. That situation is still serious. Senators like Mr. Borah declared that they were not bluffing. They said that the reclamation project had been most carefully estimated, and that all of the $30,000,000 was needed to complete the work that water might be had, for which the settlers are waiting. A dollar less is as good as no appropriation at all. Senator Crane had some difficulty in the negotiations, but it is thought that the matter will adjust itself. The Senate also took further steps leading to an investigation of the Lorimer bribery charges.

In the House, there were two speeches of note. Representative McCall addressed himself to the character of our railroad legislation, which he said was very faulty, and Speaker Cannon also held the attention of the House while he spoke on the rules. He declared anew that these had not been understood, and that he had been much maligned.

Whatever abuse existed, he affirmed, was due to the cowardice of members who introduced legislation they did not want the House to express itself upon, and had it tied up in committee, and then explained to the country that a car-like speaker had thwarted them. Meantime there is rather a rush to dislodge bills pigeonholed in committee.

The public buildings bill was reported Saturday, and, while it authorizes the expenditure of some $20,000,000, $13,000,000 is for buildings in the District of Columbia. Massachusetts fares well, receiving an authorization for $545,000, inclusive of $100,000 for a building at Greenfield. Representative Lawrence rightly congratulated himself on obtaining the building for Greenfield. When he became a congressman, there was not a public building in his district, and now there are handsome structures at Holyoke, Pittsfield, North Adams and Westfield, and now there is soon to be another at Greenfield.

There is comment here on the exaggeration of the preliminary reports of the Roosevelt reception in New York. Those who have returned from there, and especially congressmen, say that they had been led to expect from the narratives they had read that New York was agog with excitement and crowded with hordes of shouting people, and elaborately decorated, whereas, as a matter of fact, none of this was in evidence.

CANNON TURNS ON CRITICS

Speaker Says Papers and Magazines Are Misinformed

HE SCORES HIS CRITICS

Ridicules the Suggestion That He Is a
"Car"—Newspaper and Magazine
"Demagogues" Denounced.
Booms Champ Clark.

Washington, June 20.—The old rules of the House were defended and the critics of the speaker were severely criticized by Speaker Cannon in a brief speech late in the session of the House Saturday.

Mr. Cannon contended that the operation of the rules as adopted by the 51st Congress and as enforced by him never interfered with the will of the majority of the House, when an actual majority was obtained on any proposition. He scored newspaper and magazine writers who criticized him and said they proceeded from a lack of knowledge and upon false premises.

The speaker was greeted with cheers by his Republican colleagues when he concluded. Representative Cooper of Wisconsin, one of the leading "Immigrants," tried to reply, but there was objection and no one had an opportunity to answer the speaker's arguments. Mr. Cannon's speech was made just after the House had agreed to the conference report on the railroad bill and had accepted the Senate amendments to the statehood bill.

The speaker surrendered his gavel to Representative Mann of Illinois and, descending to the floor, went to the Republican side. He spoke of the 50,000 bills introduced in each Congress, all with their advocates demanding consideration.

Proceeding slowly, Mr. Cannon said that whoever was speaker of the House, whether for two or eight years, could not escape criticism. He spoke of the 50,000 bills introduced in each Congress, all with their advocates demanding consideration. "Many members introduce bills that they do not want passed," said Mr. Cannon, explaining the troubles that face a speaker.

He said that under the rules as they were adopted in the 51st Congress it was at any time possible for a majority in the House to legislate. Referring directly to the city editor, Champ Clark, he said that the gentleman from Missouri would make the best speaker the minority could obtain. This remark was a signal for a demonstration by the Democrats for Mr. Clark.

Mr. Cannon said that not half as many bills were passed under the new "unanimous consent rule" as formerly, and he ridiculed the suggestions about his role as a "car."

Whatever the clamor might be, he said, he preferred to maintain his fidelity to the majority of the House.

FATALLY SHOT BY MILITIAMAN.

Wakefield Boy Struck in Back of Head at Bay State Range.

Boston, June 20.—Robert Hurin, 12, of Wakefield, a marker at the Bay State range at Wakefield, was shot fatally Saturday by an unknown member of the Massachusetts signal corps detailed for revolver practice. He was found unconscious with a bullet hole in the back of his head by members of the firing party. It is supposed that a bullet from one of the 38-calibre, highpower revolvers used deflected from the shield and struck the boy.

BOY DIES IN UPSET OF BOAT.

Four Others Take Ducking as Joke at First.

Manchester, N. H., June 20.—Five boys fooling in a boat on the Piscataqua river just above the North Wear railroad bridge, caused an upset that precipitated the party into the water and caused the death of Adelard Guertin, aged 17 years.

The other four boys, Robert Lemay, John LeBlanc, Felix Guertin and Nouris Belanger, all expert swimmers, saved themselves easily, and when Guertin's absence was discovered Lemay died repeatedly in the hope of a rescue.

Guertin could not swim, although this fact passed unnoticed by his companions during the day's outing.

The party thought that the river where the upset occurred was shallow, and upon going over their heads took the ducking as a joke, until Guertin was found to be missing.

Police with grappling irons recovered the body.
